Horner, Miss Sadie Horner, Governor Baker, Judge Kahaulelio, Dr. John Weddeck, Port Physician, Messrs, Moore and Dickenson. The luau which was carried out in true Hawatian fashion passed very pleasently. Dr. Weddick proposed the health of the King and Queen. Her Majesty responded very graciously in a few words of thanks. Afterwards there was music by the princes and Mrs. Evans. All parted well satisfied with the afternoon's entertainment. The Queen has left for Wailuku.

Great Works.

We have been shown a private letter written by Mr. James Webster of Pollokshields, Scotland, to his brother, Mr. John Webster, of the Honolulu Iron Works. After disposing of private affairs, the writer proceeds to give news of a public nature from an ironworker's point of observation, as follows: "We are on with a great exhibition just now, which will be opened by the Prince of Wales on May 8th. It is to be a very fine one. To give you an idea of what can be done in steel plates, I understand the Steel Company of Scotland are to exhibit a steel plate 100 feet long, 8 feet wide inch thick. There is a boiler barrel plate in the exhibition about 15 feet diameter, 10 feet wide and 11 inch thick, rolled in one piece—one longi-tudinal joint, made by Colvile of Motherwell; a propeller shaft 45 feet long and 2 feet diameter, with a large flange at one end, and the shaft is hollow, being bored out: this was made at Parkhead forge. The writer of the letter from which the foregoing extract is taken re-marks: "We will always be pleased to receive papers if you do not find

H. H. M. Consul-General McKinley

H. L. and D. C.

The Literary and Debating Club had a highly entertaining meeting May 17th. The exercises took the form of a mock trial, in which Mr. Harry Byng was indicted for publishing in the GAZETTE an account of a trip to the Volcano without having first submitted the same to the Literary Committee of the Club. Mr. E. G. Schumann, Vice-President and Chairman, acted the part of judge, and discharged the functions of the bench with dignity and ability. Mr. A. Robertson took the role of prosecuting attorney, and Mr. Turrill, counsel for defendant. Several witnesses were examined, and their evidence, when subsequently boiled down by the presiding judge, went to show that defendant did go to the Volcano and wrote an account of it; that defendant did not go to the Volcano at all, but that the P. D. of the GAZETTE had been instigated to write the report in question.

Messrs. Graham, Kaiser, Neth, Mossman, Cooke and Harris were the jurors. The address to the jury by counsel Turrill was a powerful forensic effort. Counsel Robertson presented the case for the prosecution in a concise and effective manner. The judge charged the jury in terms so highly judicial that no exceptions were noted by counsel.

The jury, before retiring, wanted to know what crime there was in the publication charged, but were promptly answered by "his honor" that it was none of their business—they had only to answer the question "guilty or not guilty." The jury sent an en-quiry back from their room to ascertain how much the GAZETTE had paid defendant for his communication, and were directed to shut up and prepare their verdict.

The verdict, stripped of all verbiage, was "guilty as charged." The sentence of the court was that defendant treat the crowd to ice cream. The court discharged the jury and warned any representatives of the press who might be present that they were to publish no part of the pro-

The Street Railway.

Some knowing ones about the streets last week had got bees in their bonnets about the matter of the proposed street railway. It was reported that the Government had refused the sanction of its high authority to the laying of the track, but on what grounds was not stated. The rumor was made the occasion of a brief interview with the agent and engineer, Mr. Gribble. That gentleman stated that the arrangement of preliminaries with the Government had occupied more time than he had anticipated, but that all was now settled. A lot of the rails was deposited during the day on Palace Square, at the junction of Merchant and King streets. A watchman was put in charge of the place for the night. Work was commenced with a gang of about twenty men, the force Queen Kapiolani and the two royal to be increased, of course, when the princes who accompany her. Amongst work gets properly under way. westward towards Palama. Our reporter on Friday was handed a printed sheet containing the prospectus of the Hawaiian Tramways Company, limited, the company now engaged in the preliminaries of laying the long-talked-of street railway in this city. The capital of the com-pany is £130,000, in 26,000 shares of £5 each. The Directors consist of Colonel C. M. Davidson, Director of the London Tramways Co., limited; H. R. Armstrong, of Messrs. Skinner & Co. Hawaiian Consul-General for Great Britain: R. H. Fowler, of Messrs. John Fowler & Co., Leeds; Col. C. E. Macdonald, Director of the London Tramways Co., limited. The engineer, Mr. T. Blue Ribbon League-

The Blue Ribbon programme, Saturday evening, was received with well-merited enthusiasm by the audience. The attendance was larger than usual and no one went away dissatisfied. Mr. Lowrey's reading consisted of a philosophic account of submarine excavations, made under the direction of the Hawaiian government, about 1000 years hence, on the present site of the city of San Francisco, then under a thousand fathoms, more or less, of water, with a somewhat grim-humorous description of the fashions obtaining in "those early times" among the drowned inhabitants of the city of the for the Crown; Hatch for defendant. Golden Gate.

Master A. F. Wall's piano solo and Miss Jennie Grieve's and Miss Mabel Rhodes' singing were greeted with encores. Mr. A. E. Murphy was twice encored. His reading and recitations were given in a masterly style. Mr. W. A. Kinney, it was noted, was the first who had yet taken the stand without anyone leaving the audience at that point. The speaker empha-sized the fact that in the competitive race in the enterprises of the present age the men who develop themselves in the direction of self-control and sobriety get to the front, while those who fail in these respects, get left.

Father Conrady.

It was announced in the GAZETTE a month ago that Father Conrady, a priest whose clerical life has hitherto been devoted to missionary work in India and among the Indians of Oregon, was coming to take Father Damien's post among the lepers at the Molokai settlements. The missionary arrived by the S. S. Zealandia from San Francisco, and last week he took passage by the steamer Mokolii for the future scene of his self-denying labors. He had repeatedly offered himself for this service among the Hawaiian JUST RECEIVED A CONSIGN-lepers, indeed declining agreeable stations until the door was open for him here. The Dog Question.

EDITOR GAZETTE: There exists at the Station House a nuisance, which, if the tender conscience of the Marshal will not abate, should at least be abated by an edict from the Board of Health. It is the impounding of dogs in a cell in the Station House. These animals, caged in large numbers in a small cell, keep up such a constant barking and yelping that it is a matter of impossibility for those human beings confined there to disturb noise is so great as even persons at a distance. But this is not the worst, their excrements poison not only the atmosphere of the cells, in which human beings are compelled to remain, but the effluvia even pervades the atmosphere to a distance even beyond the Station yard. This thing has now been going on for two or three weeks. Does not the law provide penalty enough for transgressors without noising or stinking them to death? It is a public shame and an outrage on humanity, and at least a nuisance which the Board of Health should inquire into. More outrageous is such a thing, when a proper pen for the pur-pose could be built at the expense of a few dollars, in a place distant from habitations, and there is no need of keeping the dogs at all. As a fact, the restoration of the dogs to the owners at all is in direct violation of law. The law is mandatory on the subject of their destruction. The last part of Section 6 of the law relating to the taxation of animals (Compiled Laws, p. 134) reads as follows: "Every dog found without a tag so appended, shall be destroyed by the police or constab-ulary force of the district."
